4th Sunday of Easter

Readings:

Acts 4:8-12

1 Jn 3:1-2

Jn 10:11-18

"And I will lay down my life for the sheep." Jesus himself gave us the image of himself as the Good Shepherd. In trying to teach us about who he was, his love for us, and his mission to save us, he chose to speak in these terms. The picture is a comforting one. We can imagine the natural beauty of a shepherd on a hillside, gently leading and guiding his sheep to the places where all their needs are met. The shepherd makes sure they are fed, watered, rested, and, of course, safe. This last element is what separates a good shepherd from a bad one. When a threat approaches his flock, the good shepherd will do whatever is necessary to save them, even at risk of his own safety. The bad shepherd, on the other hand, thinks only of himself and abandons the sheep in order to protect his own skin.

It's important, in understanding the analogy, for us to realize that we, the sheep of Christ's pasture, do face real threats, though they may be the kind that are hard to recognize. The wolves that prowl around our souls are the vices of anger, jealousy, lust, greed, gluttony, vanity, and laziness. We traditionally call these the seven deadly sins, and they are truly deadly. When we give in to them, we cut off our souls from the source of real life: God. But Jesus is the Good Shepherd, who lays down his life for us, literally. Jesus suffered and died on the cross, taking away the deadly consequence of sin. This selfless act has saved us by offering the forgiveness and reconciliation that our souls, weak and weary from the attacks of evil, desperately need. What a gift to be in the care of such a shepherd. What a joy to be in this flock where, as Jesus says, "I know mine and mine know me."

Special Collection: Catholic Home Mission Appeal

This weekend we are participating in the Catholic Home Mission Appeal. This national collection helps to provide religious services like the Mass and the sacraments; religious education; and training for priests, deacons, women religious and lay ministers. There are many places in America where the Catholic Church struggles just to keep parishes open and to educate children in the faith. The Catholic Home Mission Appeal helps build community within the Church and works for the common good of Catholics in the U.S. If you would like to donate to this appeal and are not on the envelope program, please place your contribution in an envelope marked "Home Mission Appeal" and drop it in the collection. Thank you!
